When Disaster strikes in Arkansas, members of the Arkansas VOAD (Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster) go to work in response. Faith-Based and Voluntary organizations communicate, coordinate, collaborate, and cooperate to foster effective and efficient service delivery to people living in the state of Arkansas who have been affected by disaster. You can help support their efforts. According to VOAD, funds are always the best way to help since they can be used when and where the need is greatest.

The Arkansas VOAD partners respond in two ways during a disaster:

Relief - immediate basic needs (food, water, and shelter), clean up, preventing further damage, etc.

Recovery - short and long term needs, relocation, repair, rebuild, replacement of homes and contents, etc.
